

DESIGN CHALLENGE

calling all individuals in the design community to create the next work setting. we are looking for innovative ideas to create a safe, productive, and comfortable workplace as we transition into the next movement.

THE SCENARIO:

picture you have been working remote for a year, and you just went back to the office. what does it look like? we are asking you to design options for new work settings that may be used by organizations to get people back in the office. you have an unlimited budget and technology needs to be taken into consideration.

select one or more of the following categories:

c a t e g o r i e s

- office building

determine what services, amenities and program requirements to the main entry floor. design a new space or select an existing building to renovate.

- office suite/flex space determine the program and number of people that task, collaborate and support within the space. design the setting assuming a 3,000 sf area.

- workstation

determine what will affect this setting with new protocols. design an efficient individual space.

- co-working space
